

Population, Health and Environment Ethiopia Consortium Commitment

Narrative:

PHEEC has the FP 2030 commitment to bring both programmatic and policy levels.

1. Programmatic commitments

- In Ethiopia, we will reach about 300,000 women and girls with PHE integrated messages that include the utilization of rights-based family planning services
- In Ethiopia, we will provide key health supplies to 40 health facilities which will serve about 200,000 women and girls
- In Ethiopia, we will provide health system strengthening support through establishing community-level change agents that educate the wider communities in 300 villages

2. Policy level commitments

- In Ethiopia, we will work to inject the environment, agriculture, and water sectors policies to integrate health issues. This will be achieved through the national level multi-sector initiatives which we are co-chairing and also the evidence generation engagements with universities and research institutes. We are co-chairing the National Right Platform and we are members of the reproductive health technical task force and other initiatives.

Outcomes:

By 2030, key sectors like health, environment, and agriculture will be influenced to integrate PHE concepts into their strategic planning processes. By 2030, 200,000 women and girls will become rights-based family planning service users.
